

Hoover Discloses Full Knowledge of State Conditions

Surprises Callers With Broad Grasp of Possible Effects of Unusual Cross Currents at Work in Campaign—Not Deceived by Certain Situations.

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—Herbert Hoover is disclosing to callers a knowledge of political conditions in the various states which have surprised many of them both in its details and its broad grasp of the possible effects of the unusual cross currents at work in this campaign.

While he never talks for publication as to his own beliefs concerning the outcome of the election, it is known that Hoover has card-indexed the states in his own mind and can present concisely and with a wealth of detail the fundamental reasons for his confidence in winning in one place and for his opinion that he will trail his Democratic opponent in another.

Politicians who have called at his headquarters here have given him reports which in some cases he has discounted all the way from fifty to one hundred per cent. He isn't permitting himself to be deceived as to certain situations and has demonstrated that he is a hard-headed general who has no desire to blink what to him are rather patent facts.

As time goes on the Republican presidential candidate's satisfaction with the situation in the west grows and he apparently entertains serious doubts now about only three states in that section—Missouri, Arizona, and Montana. In his view the refusal of Nathan C. Frank, of St. Louis, defeated for the Republican senatorial nomination, to run as an independent candidate for the senate has improved the situation in Missouri.

Greatest Fight in Eastern States

Some of those who have visited Hoover recently have told him that perhaps his greatest fight will be in New York and Massachusetts and seems to have had organization difficulties in the east and efforts have been made to straighten these out and conduct a driving campaign from this time until election day.

Hoover will visit both New York and Massachusetts for two of the four addresses he will deliver in the east.

While no one connected with Republican headquarters will even intimate that Hoover entertains a belief that he can break the solid south in November, the Republican candidate has been giving more and more attention to that section and the party organizations have been strengthened in some of the states and supplemental ones organized elsewhere, as in Mississippi.

Southern States Receive Attention.

Just at the present time, the Republican candidate has his eyes centered on Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi, but he also is observing the situations that are developing in Texas, Florida, and Alabama. Especially optimistic reports have been brought to him from the Lone Star State, where some Democratic leaders have bolted their national ticket, and he has been told that he has an opportunity in North Carolina, where the anti-Smith groups appear to be most active, and Georgia and Virginia.

The border states of Maryland, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Oklahoma also are focal points for Republican activity and strenuous campaigns are ordered for Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, although the Republican candidate has received information from the leaders that he need have little concern as to the outcome in any of them.

Takes Nothing for Granted.

Because of the unusual elements in this battle for the presidency, Hoover is taking nothing for granted and he has ordered a big push all along the line, in normally Republican states as well as those that generally are regarded as doubtful. Special attention is being given to organization details everywhere with the responsibility placed upon the state leaders under general direction from Washington headquarters.

While there is an active southern division of the national organization, the Republican standard bearer realizes that whatever hope of success there is, in the solid south, lies largely with the anti-Smith Democrats and he believes that those behind this move are Democrats and will remain Democrats. Consequently there has been and will be no effort to tie them in with the regular Republican organization in Dixie.

WOMEN SHOW GREATER INTEREST IN POLITICS.

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—Greater interest by women in politics was declared in evidence by Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, on his return here today from a speaking tour in New England.

"I was particularly impressed by the attendance and the attention of the women at my meetings," the Senator said in a statement. "The National campaign this year seems to have aroused the interest of all members of the home."

"I believe it safe to predict that there will be a greater vote in this election than ever before and I base that prediction upon the attention being given to politics this year by the women. Nor is there any diminution on the spirit of the men."

Six Convicts Dead In Prison Escape

Thirteen Attempted Escape From Louisiana Penitentiary and a Few Survived Heavy Gunfire From Guards—Casualties Include Eight Wounded.

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 10 (AP).—Six convicts are dead, another is believed to have been shot fatally and eight persons were wounded as the outcome of an attempt by thirteen prisoners to shoot their way out of the Louisiana State Penitentiary last night.

Headed by Cleveland Owen, New Orleans desperado, the convicts overpowered two guards, broke into the ammunition room where they obtained guns, and then raced for a launch in the nearby Mississippi river while they kept up a running gunfire with prison authorities.

Two prisoners and a trusty were killed before the escaping men reached the boat and three other prisoners lost their lives before the craft could be gotten out of range of the bullets. Another prisoner is believed to have been killed, but he possibly may have escaped.

Four guards and three prisoners were wounded and two or three convicts escaped. Two others surrendered when firing began.

Warden Amacker, who was here when he received a report of the break, rushed to the scene and today was directing an intensive search for the missing prisoners. They are believed to have deserted the launch as soon as possible and struck out cross-country.

Leader Made Previous Escape.

Owen, serving a 14 to 21 year sentence for shooting a New Orleans policeman with intent to kill, is credited by prison officials with engineering the affair. A few months ago he and several others escaped. After they were captured he declared he never would be taken alive again.

His statement was fulfilled, for he was one of the slain. Three of the others killed were serving life sentences and two a few years for robbery. All were white.

One of the dead was J. S. Brown, a trusty, who lost his life aiding guards in their attempt to prevent the escape. He was serving a life sentence for murder.

The others were Arthur Kinchen, life sentence for a statutory offense; Stanley Proctor, life sentence, crime not learned; E. J. Beck, robbery; Jack Martin, robbery.

Walking up to two guards, Owen suddenly whipped out a revolver which had been smuggled to him, and the other convicts then overpowered the guards.

Obtain Revolvers and Cartridges.

Working swiftly, the men ran to the ammunition house, obtained revolvers and cartridges and raced to the river, about 200 yards away.

Meanwhile an alarm had been sounded and the prison searchlight picked up the fleeing prisoners. Guns blazed and three of the convicts fell.

Guards started in pursuit exchanging bullets with the prisoners. Captain John Singleton was shot in the head and body and Captain C. C. Higgenbotham lost an eye and was wounded in the body. Two other guards and three of the prisoners were slightly wounded.

A few convicts survived the heavy gunfire and reached the river, where they wounded Archie Walter, operator of a launch, and commandeered the craft. Three more were killed, however, before the boat reached a safe distance.

What happened to the launch after that was a matter of speculation. A searching party was organized immediately to pursue it.

21 Killed at Milan Auto Races

Milan, Italy, Sept. 10 (AP).—Twenty-one deaths have resulted from an accident in an automobile race here yesterday. While speeding at 120 miles an hour a competitor for the track championship of Europe plunged into the grandstand, killing himself and eighteen others. Twenty-six spectators, including Dorothy Donerton of Boston, were injured. Two of these died later.

Despite the accident, the race continued. A Frenchman, Chiron, driving a Bugatti car to victory at the average speed of 160 miles an hour. As the racer, Materassi, sped into the straightaway in front of the grandstand at the Monza autodrome on his eighteenth circuit he attempted to pass another competitor.

The front of Materassi's car grazed the speeding automobile ahead and overturned. Materassi's automobile plunged across the barrier and a ditch separating the track from the stands. It plowed into the midst of the crowd, killing eighteen spectators and the driver.

There was a momentary flurry and then the spectators resumed their seats as the race continued.

Temporary Bridge Soloman P. Thorn Work Denounces

At Napanoch Now Dies at His Home—Whisper Attacks Against Nominees

Widely Known Southern Ulster Fruit Grower Died Saturday Night at Clintonville—Represented Ulster County Second District in State Assembly Three Terms.

Now Possible To Travel To Ellenville By The Main Highway For First Time Since The Flood—Creek Changed Its Course Since Flood.

The temporary bridge at Napanoch which was built to replace the iron structure washed away by the recent flood was thrown open to traffic today and it is now possible to travel to Ellenville by the main highway for the first time since the flood. A temporary wooden structure has been erected by the highway department under the direction of D. V. Z. Bogert, who is in charge of maintenance of state highways in this locality.

At the time the iron bridge was washed away there were plans prepared and the contract for the rebuilding of the bridge had been let. Some machinery was on the scene and work would have been under way within a few days. Rights of way had been acquired and a temporary bridge would have had to been built by the contractor to take the place of the old bridge during reconstruction.

What changes will have to be made in the plans are not known at this time as the creek changed its course during the flood and very materially widened the creek channel. Machinery on the scene was removed to storage after the flood and it is probable that changes will have to be made in the original plans.

Those who witnessed the passing of the iron bridge which has withstood flood for fifty years claim it was one of the most unusual sights ever witnessed. The bridge was lifted by the flood waters from the piers and carried down the stream intact and deposited on the Young flats some distance down stream. As the bridge lifted from its fastenings and floated down stream it resembled a flat floating on the crest of the waters.

FIRE DEPARTMENT CALLED OUT TWICE ON SUNDAY

Sunday morning about 6:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from Box 44, Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street, and when the fire department responded they found no one waiting at the box to give the location of the fire. After waiting a minute or so it was decided that some one had turned in a false alarm and the fire apparatus were about to return to the fire stations when a man coming down Hasbrouck avenue notified the firemen he had seen smoke coming from the house at 19 St. Mary's street, occupied by Alton Countryman. The firemen proceeded to the house found some bed clothing on a trunk in a store room on the second floor on fire. The clothing and trunk were badly damaged and the room was also damaged before the fire was brought under control.

Sunday afternoon the fire department was called out for a fire in the Wilbur avenue dump.

SOLOMON P. THORN.

Solomon P. Thorn, widely known resident of Ulster county, died Saturday night at his home in Clintonville, aged 83 years. He had been ill for the past six months with cancer, which caused his death. Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, John Thorn of Clintonville, and Lewis Thorn of Tarrytown. Funeral services from the late residence Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock daylight saving time. Later he attended Eastman's Business College in Poughkeepsie and then returned to Clintonville where he had since been engaged in farming and fruit growing. He made a specialty of raising grapes and pears.

Mr. Thorn was very active politically and served the town of Plattekill as supervisor during 1889 and 1890. He also served the second district of Ulster county as assemblyman for three terms, 1899, 1901 and 1903. For many years he was a recognized leader of the Republican party in southern Ulster and was a delegate to various state Republican conventions.

For many years Mr. Thorn was owner of the Clintonville Elks Spring and furnished bottled drinking water to numerous offices and business establishments in New York city.

Work Denounces Whisper Attacks Against Nominees

Republican National Chairman Says Anonymous Attacks on Republican and Democratic Candidates Obscure Real Issues—Not Made With Sanction or Authority of Committee.

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—A political document, somewhat unusual in character, and serving a twofold purpose in dealing with the "whispering campaign," has been issued by Chairman Work of the Republican national committee.

Declaring that "no personal attacks have been made either with the sanction or authority" of the committee, Dr. Work denounced "periodical articles and anonymous publications directed against the two Presidential candidates." He added that they are equally harmful to the candidate maligned and to his opponent and constitute "an offense against public morals."

Thus the Republican chairman denied party responsibility for such matter circulated against Governor Alfred E. Smith and at the same time publicly charged for the first time that anonymous material assailing Herbert Hoover has been given circulation. Moreover, he charged that some of the attacks directed at the Republican candidate were sent by presumably responsible persons in the opposition under the seal of confidence, but intended to start "whispering campaigns."

Sent Under Congressional Frank

Some of them have been sent broadcast in certain sections of the country "under the protection and privilege of the congressional frank," the chairman said, but he did not name those responsible for such circulation.

Dr. Work's statement followed closely upon those of Mayor James J. Walker of New York, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, and other supporters of the Democratic Presidential candidate, who have charged that the south, in particular, is being flooded with scurrilous matter aimed at the candidacy of the New York governor.

"We do not want to win votes on tactics that are opposed to every standard and tradition of our party," Dr. Work said in his statement, given to the press last night.

Terms Such Tactics Vicious

"Once and for all I denounce all such activities as vicious and beyond the pale of decent political campaigning. In saying this I am merely reiterating the policy which I announced at the outset of the campaign."

"There are real and fundamental issues in this contest and vital principles of government are at stake. These immaterial utterances of foolish extremists on either side should not be used to obscure the real issues."

The Senatorial race Herbert E. Holmes is opposing the reelection of Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, who wants to go to Washington for a third time. Holmes has campaigned almost alone, going about the state with a phonograph to attract crowds and then preaching "All Smith."

Judge and Wife Bolt Smith

The campaign has been without its "bolts." Mrs. William H. Fattigall, a former Democratic national committeewoman, jumped the traces and has been campaigning for the Republicans. Her husband, long an outstanding Democratic figure in this state, but now on the bench, also announced he could not support Smith.

Maine Holding State Election

Both Democrats and Republicans Confident of Victory—Republicans Hope to Increase Majority Made in 1920.

Portland, Me., Sept. 10 (AP).—Maine, so-called political barometer of the Union, holds its state election today with both Democrats and Republicans confident that the barometer readings 24 hours hence will mean "fair and warmer" for their respective parties in the coming national election.

This northeastern political garden has sprouted a forecast of the national election every Presidential year and the national organizations of both parties have been busy cultivating crops during the past few weeks.

Maine takes pride in the slogan "As Maine goes so goes the nation," and the Republicans were out to prove that the political crystal forecast a sweeping Hoover victory while the Democrats hoped it would augur equally well for Governor Smith.

Back in 1920 the Republicans elected a governor by a majority of 65,000 and Harding received a majority of 65,000 over Cox in the national election. Their fondest hope was to exceed that figure today. The heavy artillery of the G. O. P. came here with that end in view. Senator Charles Curtis, Republican nominee for Vice-President, and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana have been here booming Republican stock. The national organization of the Democratic party has not shown the same interest. Mrs. Nellie T. Ross, former governor of Wyoming, was one of the few speakers of note who invaded the state to aid the Smith cause.

The Republicans have set 36,000 as their minimum majority but estimates ranging up to 55,000 have been made.

Candidates for Governor and Senator

William Tudor Gardiner is the Republican standard bearer for the governorship. He has been a popular state figure for years and waged his campaign on the record of both state and national administrations.

A 33 year old insurance agent, Edward C. Moran, Jr., is Gardiner's opponent. He was the man who led the successful fight to send a Smith-instructed delegation to Houston. He has made the state water power question his issue.

The Senatorial race Herbert E. Holmes is opposing the reelection of Senator Frederick Hale, Republican, who wants to go to Washington for a third time. Holmes has campaigned almost alone, going about the state with a phonograph to attract crowds and then preaching "All Smith."

Judge and Wife Bolt Smith

The campaign has been without its "bolts." Mrs. William H. Fattigall, a former Democratic national committeewoman, jumped the traces and has been campaigning for the Republicans. Her husband, long an outstanding Democratic figure in this state, but now on the bench, also announced he could not support Smith.

The Democrats see a chance for Albert Belliveau in the Second Congressional district. He is opposing Wallace H. White, Jr., who has been congressman for six terms. The hope is based on the fact that this district, normally Republican, sent Daniel J. McGillicuddy, now Democratic national committeeman, to Washington three times a decade ago and they hope history will repeat. The other three Congressional contests seemed safely Republican.

Kellogg Declares Treaty Should Not Be Made An Issue

Reads Prepared Statement to Reporters In Which He Tells of Peace Pact—Says Mr. Hoover Does Not Wish to Make the Treaty a Party Issue.

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg landed at 7:50 this morning from the United States liner Leviathan on his return from Paris, where he signed the peace pact which bears his name for the United States.

Secretary Kellogg, accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg and three members of his party, was taken from the liner at quarantine by the coast guard cutter Hudson and brought to the Battery. They entered an automobile there and with a police motorcycle escort were rushed to the Pennsylvania station, where they entrained for Washington.

The Secretary read a prepared statement to the reporters. It follows:

"I do not think a treaty for the renunciation of war should be made a party issue, either in the campaign or in the senate and I cannot conceive that it will be. It is an international matter of world-wide importance. The promotion of world peace is an ideal common to all civilizations. It is not the prerogative of any one country or any one group within a country. The treaty was signed by fifteen nations and thirty more have already signified their intention to adhere to it. There is every indication that it will be accepted by every nation in the world."

In response to a question as to Herbert Hoover's attitude on the treaty, he said:

"I am quite sure Mr. Hoover does not wish to make the treaty a party issue."

Brought Original Treaty Home.

Kellogg brought the original treaty with him. He said he thought the pact had made an excellent impression everywhere.

He was asked whether the reported secret naval treaty between England and France "is consistent with the anti-war treaty which you signed." Kellogg seemed annoyed at the question, but answered:

"Yes, I don't understand that there is any naval treaty. Both countries said there is no treaty."

Asked why he did not visit England but did visit Ireland, he said:

"I went to Dublin to return the visit of President Cosgrave on the invitation of his government. I could not go to England too as I had only five days and it takes one day to get there. I think that's a complete answer."

Asked whether he thought any nations would try "going further" with the treaty, he inquired "Do you mean any sanctions?"

"Yes," was the answer.

"No, I think if you read my notes you will see that that is as far as the United States will go."

He was enthusiastic over the up-building of the American Merchant Marine saying: "I think we ought to have more ships."

Vermont May Break Its Rule

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 10 (AP).—An ancient tradition probably unique in American political history may be broken this year. It is Vermont's unwritten law called "Mountain Rule." The Republicans, Vermont has elected its highest political honors between the east and west sides of the state which is divided nearly in the middle by the north-south ridges of the Green Mountains. But this year John H. Weeks is a candidate for re-election by the Republicans in the state primary—September 11.

For nearly 50 years east-sider and west-sider have alternated as chief executive. During approximately 50 years no Vermont governor has sought re-election.

Governor Weeks, coming from Middlebury, is a west-sider. Mayor Edward H. Beavitt of Montpelier, an east-sider, has become the opponent of Governor Weeks in the party primaries, announcing as one of his reasons a desire to prevent the system of "Mountain Rule" from being broken.

The tradition of "Mountain Rule" is deep-rooted in the early history of Vermont as a state. In the beginning of statehood in 1777 the men who ruled the political destinies of Vermont formulated an agreement whereby the two senators allotted in the national congress should be chosen, one from the east side of the Green Mountains and one from the west.

In the succeeding 135 years that agreement has been broken only once—when an east-side senator died in office in 1853 and the governor appointed a west-sider to finish the unexpired term.

The state's two congressional districts also adhere to the principle of dividing political favor between the east and west sides, for the line that divides them follows fairly closely the mountain range that divides the state nearly in the middle.

The "rule" did not affect the office of governor during the first 50 years of Vermont's existence. Until 1926 all the governors were elected from the west side. During the next 18 years all were chosen from the east side.

After the "rule" had begun to affect the choice of governors it was customary for the chief executive to seek re-election for a single term. But since 1870, when the state constitution was changed to provide the biennial instead of annual elections, no governor has served two terms.

Nomination by the Republican party in the primary elections or state conventions has for many years been considered equivalent to election.

A victory by Governor Weeks this fall might not, in fact, mean the end of "Mountain Rule." It might, however, disrupt the precedent of a single term for Vermont executives so that future governors might succeed themselves for at least one term.

MOUNTAIN STREAMS USED FOR IRRIGATION.

Burley, Idaho, Sept. 10 (AP).—Streams of underground water, fed by the melting snow on mountain peaks, are being studied here by engineers and geologists in an effort to connect irrigation systems with the subterranean flow.

Reclamation officials are inclined to believe that there are many localities where this plan can be applied successfully. If the surface slope approximates 30 feet to the mile and the water lies at a depth not greater than 12 feet, the plan may be profitably used, they say.

H. F. Deardorff, a farmer living in the Raft river valley of southern Idaho, developed the idea. He sank test wells to find the height of the water table at different seasons and pumped from these test holes to ascertain the volume of flow. The trench was started from a point desirable for an irrigation stream and followed a straight line up the slope to the foothills, gradually growing deeper as it progressed.

When the trench reached a depth of five or six feet, about 50 rods from the starting point, it began to fill with underground water. Thereafter the bottom of the trench was maintained at water level and continued up the slope. Digging was stopped 75 rods from the starting point, with the ditch eight feet deep, and a full irrigation stream coursed into the farm land below.

Other farmers have followed Deardorff's idea and have provided a continuous flow large enough in volume to irrigate a 40 to 80 acre farm.

Composition of Fog

The dense fogs which during the winter months, especially, are apt to afflict great maritime cities are in their essentials, merely cumulus clouds resting upon the ground, or near it. It is the soot and other impurities they hold in solution that cause them to be unpleasant. A sea fog is the same thing, minus the impurities. Being composed of particles of watery vapor, it is clean and though dangerous to shipping, it is not particularly so to breathe. Low-lying city fogs are usually shallow, though some have been found by aerobants to extend upward to a height of 2,500 feet.

Vacations on Ranches

"Dude" ranches are colorful vacation havens in Texas, the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming. "Dude" ranching is not a new business by any means, according to the owner of one of the largest of such ranches. As far back as 1847 Howard Eaton, pioneer "dude" rancher, moved from Pittsburgh to Dakota. At various times he invited his friends out for visits, and they enjoyed it so much that they came back as paying guests. Later Mr. Eaton moved to Wyoming and started another ranch, and many others of the same kind are now operating.

Events Around The Empire State

(By The Associated Press.)

Paradise Lake—Adirondack farm—An exemplification of the rugged life in the Adirondacks is being shown at Paradise Lake, where a farm is being operated by a group of students and teachers. The farm is a model of the life of the Adirondack people, and the students are learning the art of living in the wilderness.

Albany—After a violent thunder storm—A few days ago, 25 chickens owned by Miss Edna Garvey of this place were found dead in the chicken house. They showed no marks, but it is thought lightning struck near enough to kill them, or that they died of fright.

Albany—This city, which Governor Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, has called home for the past eight years, now flaunts a huge Hoover-Curtis banner in the center of one of the principal business streets. The banner was to have been hung early in August, but at the mayor's request its hanging was deferred until Governor Smith had been notified of his nomination.

Ticonderoga—Adirondack newspapers—Carrying an advertisement which is the sequel to an automobile accident in Essex county a short time ago. A Brooklyn man's car went into the ditch at the side of a mountain highway. Two men helped him out but drove away without giving their names. Believing he possibly owes his life to their assistance, the Brooklyn man is advertising in an effort to learn the identity of his rescuers.

Elizabethtown—Mrs. Louis Untermyer, wife of the novelist has bought "Brookside Farm," near this village, from Frank Bartlett. Mrs. Untermyer plans extensive alterations to the farm home.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Sept. 10.—Miss Alisa Reid has a new Chevrolet sedan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeWitt and daughter, Bessie, of Passaic have been spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Steen on North Chestnut street.

Mrs. Albert Koch is spending several days in Schenectady.

Henry Denzinger with his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Miller, of Hudson, spent Thursday and Friday of last week with his brother, John Denzinger, and wife, on Tricot avenue.

Wilbert Alsdorf resumed his duty as teacher at Rock Hill on Tuesday.

The Rev. Edwin D. Miner is attending a religious conference of ministers at New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The topic for study at the conference is "The Conserving and Developing of Church Members." The leaders are Dr. Louis T. Reed of Brooklyn and Dr. Rufus M. Jones of Haverford College.

Nellie DuBois mentions as one of her most interesting days while abroad the day trip on the Rhine. She passed the very picturesque "Paltz" in the midst of the Rhine where in 1313 Blucher crossed. For many years customs were collected at this point on the Rhine. There is a very interesting old castle on "The Paltz" of French style architecture. It has been held by the French since the World War and a French flag was flying from the staff on the castle grounds when Miss DuBois passed.

Mrs. Ralph Gardner entertained friends from Brooklyn over the week end.

Mrs. Ellsworth Miller of Modena was a caller in town Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Terwilliger called on friends in Modena on Monday.

George Clinton was among other guests at his parents' home in Modena on Sunday.

AMERICA THANKS SPAIN FOR PIONEER LIVESTOCK

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—To Spain, first to send domestic livestock to this country, the United States will express appreciation by exhibits at the International Livestock Exhibition in Seville next year.

The American commission planning participation, has decided to portray the history of the livestock industry on this continent, beginning with the cattle Christopher Columbus brought to America under the Spanish flag in 1493. Another exhibit will show sheep introduced by Coronado, a Spaniard, in 1540.

In connection with the mule-producing industry, which at the beginning of this year was valued at approximately $500,000,000, the exhibit will record the fact that in 1785 the King of Spain sent George Washington a fine Spanish Jack, named Royal Gift, and two jennets whose offsprings at Mount Vernon started a family tree which today has five and one-half million descendants.

Licence Production

The chief licence-producing countries are Turkey, Russia, Italy, Greece and Spain. The cultivation of licorice was attempted in the United States, chiefly in California and Louisiana, but did not succeed.

Health Authorities Urge Care In Summer Eating and Drinking

Tardy summer is bringing with it, and not water. These same health-giving warmth and healing rays the usual summer crop of ailments. These result from the difference of the public to sanitary factors and the cupidity of purveyors who fail to take disease preventive precautions, according to the General Health Bureau of New York.

About an epidemic, in motion or about, but weather conditions encourage people into care and stronger environments. With the holiday spirit urging them comes a carelessness in the matter of drinking and eating that menaces their present and future health. Each spring seemingly bubbles with purity, every wayside stand with its food and beverages represents refreshment in new towns the soda fountain and stores appear quaint and clean.

Health authorities, however, look with a keen eye on these places and are now issuing warnings and setting danger signals in their laboratories. They sample spring water for germ content and they take cultures from drinking glasses to determine bacterial count. As a consequence many springs are condemned for public use, the dippers at these roadside fountains are thrown away, glasses are abolished from lunch rooms and stands along the motor paths and in the towns and cities sterilization of sanitary vessels are compelled.

As dire a peril as contaminated springs, say sanitarians, are common glasses. Surgeon-General Hugh S. Cumming, of the United States Public Health Service, regards the latter as "germ exchanges." Therefore, for the protection of the traveling public who otherwise would transmit disease from town to town and State to State, health officers are extraordinarily vigilant this season in compelling obedience to the laws and ordinances that prohibit the use of the common glass.

Many places have abolished the glass altogether for their community safety and the protection of their visitors. Equally important, for the stay-at-homes, is the maintenance of sanitary conditions in the home. Stopped drains and pipes constitute an internal danger that may be averted only through liberal use of simple precautions.

handlers have voluntarily enrolled with the bureau as verified-origin dealers. Last year 17,000,000 pounds of alfalfa seed were verified as to origin. During that period only a part of the alfalfa seed handled commercially was covered by the service. It is expected that verified origin seed certificates will be attached to more than 40,000,000 pounds this year.

She never petted in a buggy because horses carry tails.

TAGS OF VERIFIED ORIGIN ARE LIMITED TO ALFALFA

Washington, Sept. 10 (AP).—Changes in the seed origin-verification service of the bureau of agricultural economics which limit the service to alfalfa seed but which also extend it to cover practically all such seed commercially handled, are announced by the department of agriculture.

Practically all large alfalfa seed stories of malignant germs sanitary and sterile.

The experience of health officers is that diseases that have their incubation during the months of summer make the tables of illness and death climb during the subsequent seasons. Most of the ailments incurred are easily prevented; the health officers are doing their share to stop the danger at the source, and they are united in their appeal to the public to assist through simple precautions.

Book Preservation
The Bureau of Standards says that in large libraries, for preservation purposes, it is customary to paste a very thin silk fabric over the pages, using good glue as the adhesive. The fabric is the chlofin. The Bureau does not know of any liquid that is entirely satisfactory. Varnish would be good if it did not penetrate the paper more in some places than in others, and thus cause a blotchy appearance.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Excited public speculation in stocks continued in today's market, which witnessed the establishment of nearly two score high records on gains ranging from 1 to nearly 12 points. The rally was slow in getting started because of the necessity of absorbing further profit-taking in some of the recent industrial favorites, but pools brought forward a number of new leaders and the advance was in full swing by early afternoon.

Outside the stock market chief speculative interest centered in the break of $1.50 a bale in cotton prices in reflection of the government crop estimate Saturday.

Call money renewed unchanged at 7 1/2 per cent and appeared to be in fairly plentiful supply at that figure despite the calling of about $10,000,000 in bank loans. Time money was firmer, being quoted at 6 1/2 to 6 3/4, as against a ruling rate of 6 1/2 last week. Sterling hovered near the year's low and around the "gold import point," but no shipments of the precious metal had been announced by early afternoon.

Montgomery Ward was again the sensational feature, soaring nearly 12 points to a record at 252 1/2 against a low of 117 earlier in the year. Purity Baking Preferred jumped 10 points, and the common 7 1/2. Commercial Solvents 7, Motor Products 7, International Nickel 6 1/2, Commercial Investment Trust 6, and Republic Steel 5, all to new high records.

Amusement shares continued to attract widespread interest. Warner Bros. issues extended their early gains for about 7 1/2 points and Fox Film and Shubert sold 6 points higher, all at new top prices for the year.

Brooklyn Edison ran up 11 points, Warren Bros., 10 1/2 and American Bank Note, 10 1/2. Rossia Insurance, Wright Aeronautical and General Electric sold 4 to nearly 6 points higher.

Trading was in such volume that the ticker ran 15 to 25 minutes behind the market.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Foster of Inwood, Long Island, was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, September 1, when their daughter, Maude Genevieve Foster, became the bride of Schuyler William, son of Mr. and Mrs. George William of New Paltz. At 2:30 o'clock the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Ray Hendrickson of Hempstead, L. Day of the Methodist Protestant Church of Inwood. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore ivory satin dress with an uneven hemline and long sleeves and trimmed with old lace. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Kathryn Engelhard of Lawrence, L. I. Her gown of yellow tulle was trimmed with pastel shades of tulle and her old fashioned bouquet was pastel shades. The best man was Irving Millham, the groom's brother. During the reception there were solos by Charles Tamme of New York and Vinton Highgate of Rockville Center, Long Island. Ninety-four guests were present. The bride is well known in New Paltz as she was graduated in the Normal class of 1926. Mr. and Mrs. Millham will live in their recently purchased house on the New Paltz and Modena state road.

The Foot-Mother

Little Mary Esther had heard the grown-ups discuss the stepmother problem. She often played that her pet kitten was her child. One day her mother heard her saying to the kitten, "Now you have to mind me, even if I am only your foot-mother."

Fortunes to Writers

Thomas Hardy's fortune of over $470,000 does not seem so large after all, if we remember that George Eliot made $300,000 from "Adam Bede" alone, and that more than one best seller within recent years has eclipsed that figure.

Present-day novelists, however, usually have cinema payments to add to their book royalties, and their cinema totals sometimes exceed those from the sale of their books.—Passing Show, London.

Art of Misquotation

At a banquet at the Biltmore recently a prominent Broadwayite made a talk, part of it including a sentence by an immortal poet. After the speech the guest next to him whispered: "You had that line of Keats's a bit twisted." "I did it that way purposely—I didn't want them to think I had only read it the day before."—New York Evening Journal.

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 10, 1928.

Somebody in Paris has discovered that "Gene" Tunney is "really a poet and only a boxer by necessity." How much of a poet, he is may be debatable, but with his $2,000,000 earnings and his wealthy bride-to-be he can hardly be called a boxer "by necessity."

The southern Baptists are likely to think twice before they again make an ex-convict treasurer of their home mission fund, now that Clinton Carnes is known to have run away with a million dollars of their money. His conversion to the Baptist faith may have looked genuine, and for a while he may have thought so himself. But it is good policy to be a little cautious when it is proposed to make a church treasurer out of a man who has "done time."

A Christian minister rises up to remark that there has been an overproduction of go-getters in this country. He doesn't think much of the type of fellow who must always be "doing something." The ideal thus represented, he says, is a low one. Sure enough, the merit if any, in go-getting, depends on what a person goes and gets. Action in itself is neither good nor bad. The value of doing things must be judged by what is done, and how, and why.

"They seem to believe in hunting rabbits with a brass band in Philadelphia. That is the only plausible explanation of the methods adopted to catch bootleggers and proprietors of speakeasies redhanded in their violation of the law."—Baltimore Sun. The method may have certain practical advantages. It may satisfy the aroused "moral sense" of the community, and when all the scared "rabbits" have hidden in their holes the hunters can proudly rest on their laurels—until there is another outcry.

The queen of Italy wants her son Humbert, the crown prince, to visit America as a part of his education. Nothing else, she thinks, will help so much to round out his view of the world and fit him to sit on the Italian throne. Inasmuch as Queen Elena generally gets what she wants, the young man will probably come, and will be welcomed and feted as befits his station. Yet that is probably of little importance. To have any real effect on the future of Italy, Mussolini should come—or possibly Mussolini's son.

Something rather new in campaign equipment is the train library which Governor Smith is said to be taking with him on his speaking tour. It will contain several hundred volumes, documents and digests bearing on the various subjects about which he intends to speak. It has been selected by specialists, and carefully classified and indexed. Facts, figures, references and documentary proofs of his statements are expected to come forth from that library at the Governor's will. There's no doubt about it. This presidential campaign has the virtue of being different from others of recent years.

A novel wedding gift was presented to a young bride and groom in Manchester, Mass., last week. Ernest Schelling, famous pianist and composer, was the giver. He sat in his villa at Celly, Switzerland, and played the wedding music for the ceremony. The music was sent 4,000 miles by telephone and radio-telephone to the bride's home, where wedding guests and principals heard it and enjoyed it as if the artist had been playing in the same room with them. There is much to be said in favor of this sort of wedding present, particularly the fact that it creates no problem of arrangement when the happy couple sets about furnishing the flat and trying to make their own household goods harmonize with the wedding gifts.

Now Atlantic City, the American water-capital, has trouble with the sunlight cult. Water bathers there have turned to sun bathers. And since sunshine soaks through a bathing suit less effectively than water, there is a natural tendency to abbreviate suits. Sun bathers, the authorities complain, have gone beyond the limit. If they have their way, soon the public will be frolicking around the beach with nothing but trunks, which is not modest would be an least desirable. There must be limits and rules, they say, for bathing attire. So there must, for public bathing, whether with water or sun. But this difficulty emphasizes all the more the need of places where the new medical gospel of drenching the human body with wholesome sunlight can be effectively applied. There should be private sun-bath places, adapted to the purpose.

FIVE MINUTE EXERCISE

The exercises given over the radio will soon be under way, and thousands of folks will be going through the various movements to the commands and music.

Exercise, exercise by yourself in your home, has never been very popular. You realize that it should be done regularly, and so the first morning you oversleep and are thus likely to be a little late to your employment, you omit the exercise.

This may happen two or three times, and then you finally neglect it altogether.

With an alarm clock to get you awake before the radio exercises begin, you soon establish this habit of daily exercise.

Most of the exercises are of a helpful practical nature, but there are some folks whose schedule for the day will not fit in with the morning radio period of exercise.

There are others who simply will not give fifteen minutes to exercise at that time of day.

Now you want to show yourself that you have enough real stuff in you to take exercise by yourself every morning, and yet complete it in five minutes, here is the suggestion if you are in average health with an average heart:

1st—Stand by or near a window or in a well ventilated room, or if you are likely to disturb the rest of the family get over a joist in the doorway of your room, and jog 50 to 100 steps. This means the act of running on the one spot, just as youngsters do when skipping. Do this slowly or about twice as fast as if you were walking.

2nd—Bent from side to side with knees straight about 20 times each side. Extend one arm down hard to side and the under arm pit as you bend.

3rd—Jog another 50 or 100 steps.

4th—Lie on back and slowly raise legs, knees straight, until legs are at right angles with body. Let legs go down to floor again slowly, rest a second or two, then raise them again. Do this 5 times, and increase it by one each week until you are doing it 12 times.

5th—Jog another 50 steps.

The exercise will develop heart, lungs, and middle third of the body. The work for middle third will also keep chest out and back straight. Thus in five minutes you get all round work for that body of yours. Further, although you may dislike to take exercise in the morning, by the time you have the first exercise completed, you're pleased with the feeling the exercise gives you, and pleased with yourself that you had enough "stun" in you to take the exercise.

Sound Waves Bore Hole

Sound waves of a frequency of 300,000 to 500,000 vibrations a second passed along a vibrating glass rod caused the tip to bore a hole in a piece of wood and a plate of glass, a French experimenter discovered recently. When the waves were communicated to a glass thread about one-hundredth of an inch thick and more than a yard long the frictional effect was so intense that the glass could be burned.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

ST. PETER'S CARD PARTY: SODALITY ENJOYS OUTING

The card party at St. Peter's Hall next week, to be held under the auspices of the women and young ladies of the parish, is to take place on Monday night, September 17, instead of Wednesday. It was necessary to make this change because Wednesday is an Ember Day in the church calendar. The playing will commence at 8:15 and tables will be provided for those who wish to play other games than pinochle. Refreshments will be served. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The members of the Sodality wish to renew their expressions of appreciation and gratitude to the Rev. Father Brachen of Brooklyn for his kindness in permitting the use of Camp Wakhonda, Lake Katrine, for their annual outing which was held Sunday. The accommodations afforded by the camp and its beautiful location on the Esopus Creek, together with the fine weather, made this the most successful and enjoyable outing ever held. There were 75 in attendance. Various amusements were enjoyed and 24 prizes that were donated were distributed to the winners of the games and races. The following were the victors:

100 yard dash: Dorothy Smith, Tillie Sass, Gert. Ditch.

Ball game: Margaret Zeeh, Marie

Zeeh, Carrie Streble. Bean bag in the basket: Margaret Mellert, Dolores Mellert, Mary Stenglein.

Very important matters are to be discussed at this first meeting after the summer months. After the meeting the Raible brothers will entertain with music and refreshments will be served.

Smith Drive in West Next Week

GOVERNOR WILL VISIT MANY OF THE STATES FOR FIRST TIME—SINCE MANAGER'S INTERESTING TO WIN OVER LA FOLLETTE ADHERENTS.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP)—In another week Governor Smith will leave for the west to start his long-delayed active campaign for the presidency.

Before he returns to Rochester, N. Y., October 1, to attend the Democratic State Convention, the Democratic presidential nominee, traveling on an eleven-car, elaborately equipped special train, will swing into thirteen states, many of which he has never visited before, and only one of which, Oklahoma, was carried by his party in the 1924 presidential race.

In six of the commonwealths, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Montana, Minnesota and Wisconsin, he will deliver campaign addresses, the last being set for Wisconsin, the only state the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, running on an Independent Presidential ticket, carried four years ago.

John W. Davis, Democratic standard-bearer in 1924, won out in the border state of Oklahoma by nearly 10,000 votes, but lost, by wide margins, in all the other states through which Governor Smith will pass during his first two weeks' speaking tour. In five of them—Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin—Davis ran last in the three-cornered presidential contest. After his Denver speech a week from next Saturday night, the New York Governor will move into a territory where the La Follette forces four years ago showed more strength than the Democrats. And in a number of the states to be covered, the second week of the journey the combined Davis-La Follette vote was greater than that for Coolidge.

Seek La Follette Adherents.

Smith managers are making no secret of the fact that they are attempting to win over the La Follette adherents and are looking with confidence to the ability of their presidential nominee to make a favorable impression in the northern border states.

While President Coolidge had nearly a 4,000 majority in Wyoming and topped the Davis-La Follette vote by about 25,000 in Minnesota in 1924, he fell almost 25,000 shy of the combined opposition total in Montana and approximately 10,000 short in North Dakota. In Wisconsin, the late Senator La Follette polled a vote of more than 453,000 as against 311,000 and only 68,000 for Davis.

In Minnesota, the Coolidge total was 420,000; La Follette's 339,000, and Davis's 55,000; in North Dakota Coolidge got 94,000; La Follette 89,000, and Davis 13,000; in Montana Coolidge received 74,000; La Follette nearly 66,000, and Davis about 34,000, and Wyoming gave Coolidge 41,000; La Follette 25,000, and Davis only 12,000.

States to Elect U. S. Senators.

In every state Governor Smith will visit after he leaves Denver and until he gets back in Illinois on his return to New York, a United States senator is up for re-election.

In Wyoming, Senator Kendrick, Democrat, is seeking a third term. Senator Wheeler, who bolted the Democratic party four years ago to be La Follette's running mate, is after another term in Montana. Senator Frazier, who is classed as one of the Republican Independents, and who has announced for Hoover, again is making the race in North Dakota. In Minnesota, Shipstead, the only Farmer-Laborite in the Senate,

Talks of Wedding To John Coolidge

Miss Trumbull Says Reports of Engagement are Premature and that Wedding Will Not Take Place Before Christmas—Says She Has Understanding.

New York, Sept. 10 (AP)—Miss Florence Trumbull was back from Europe today $1.50 richer because John Coolidge did not meet her at the pier. She won bets from four girl friends who toured with her. But the daughter of the Governor of Connecticut has an "understanding" with the son of the President of the United States. That is how she described their relations. She added that reports of an engagement were "premature."

When Captain Harvey of the Lapland, on which Miss Trumbull returned yesterday, asked her when the wedding "was to be she confided to him "not before Christmas." Friends of the Trumbull family have believed for some time that a White House wedding is in prospect before the close of Mr. Coolidge's term March 4.

Miss Trumbull was met by her mother, who took her at once to their home in Plainville, Conn., which is easily accessible to Northampton, Mass., where John has been recently. Miss Trumbull's bet on John meeting her at the pier were two—one for $1 and one for 50 cents.

Would Like White House Wedding.

Asked if she would like to be married in the White House she answered, "Oh, yes, that would be thrilling," and then regretfully, "but there isn't much chance of that. You see John has got to work and earn some money."

The President's son is considering entering the employ of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railway as a freight clerk, which pays a maximum of $30 a week. He has asked to be assigned to the station at Hartford, so as to be near Miss Trumbull.

Informed that there had been rumors her engagement was to be announced September 15 she said she "didn't know a thing" about it, as she had been away and would have to "find out" when she saw mother.

Specifically asked if it were not true that she and John had an understanding she said "we understand each other. Yes, we have our own understanding."

"Were the reports of your engagement premature?"

She laughed merrily.

"Yes, premature, that's the word."

She said she would like to visit Europe again, but she wouldn't like to go there on a honeymoon trip.

is up for re-election, and in Wisconsin, young "Bob" La Follette is the Republican senatorial nominee.

Neither La Follette nor Shipstead has expressed himself openly as to which presidential candidate he will support.

Visit to Walsh's State.

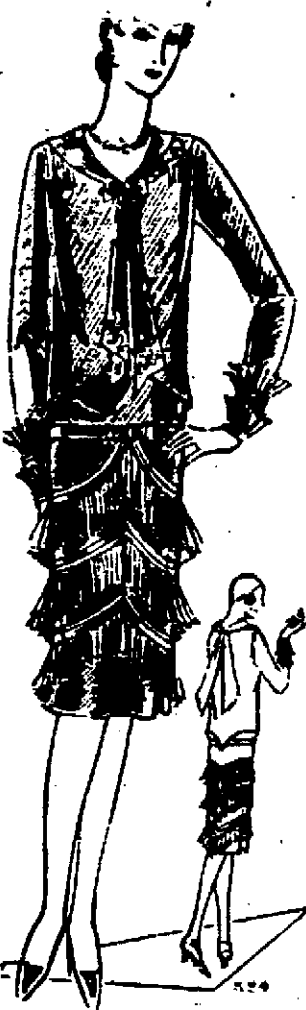

In going to Montana for a visit to the state fair and speech at Helena September 24, Governor Smith will enter the home state of Senator Walsh, who for a while opposed him for the presidential nomination, but after a recent call on the Governor at Albany, declared that while they were not in entire agreement on all questions, he would support his candidate. The famous senatorial oil prospector, like the Governor, is a Catholic, but an ardent dry.

Because it is difficult for him to sleep on trains, Governor Smith will do most of his traveling in the day time.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Ruffled Skirt Must Have Its Line Interrupted Even for Stouts

New York—The bias ruffle takes its place among other types, many of them either pleated or circular. It is not so important that the stout woman avoid ruffles as it is that she avoid them in a straight line. It has been proved repeatedly that the horizontal line being broken, and ruffles set in spirals or draped here or there, are possible even for very large figures. Generally speaking the approved line dips at the back and either raises at the front or, because of the black dip, appears to. Naturally one should exercise restraint in one's street frocks, but come evening and sweeping draperies make peacocks of us all. Whether one personally approves the circular line, circular lines are a factor, not ignored even by such tailors as O'Rosen, who does not hesitate to couple a short jacket with a circular skirt. Many of his jackets are double breasted.

It is expected that the short fur jacket, being reintroduced to society this autumn, may be worn with either a velvet or heavy satin skirt of the circular persuasion. Callot is among those who find fashionable furs need not be costly ones.

While flat furs are by way of being headlines, one reads with interest of other furs, including monkey, a fur trying to many but effective to a degree.

FIRST REFORMED CHURCH LIGHTING SYSTEM A SUCCESS

The new indirect electric lighting system of the First Reformed Church was given a thorough tryout after the Thursday evening prayer meeting and at Sunday morning's services. It was pronounced a magnificent success.

Particularly delighted were the members of the congregation with the beautiful Palladio alabaster vases by the aid of which the pulpit is lighted. These vases were made in Italy of the celebrated Palladio alabaster for which the vicinity of Florence for centuries has been famous.

The consistory of the ancient church relegated the introduction of the new system to the Ladies' Aid Society and the members of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild, who raised and furnished the money to pay for it, and entrusted the management of the details of the installation to Clarence A. Hendricks, whose father and grandfather before him were members of the consistory, and whose family has been connected with the church for upwards of two hundred years.

Mr. Hendricks gave to the most minute detail of the work his closest attention, with the result that the interior of the beautiful edifice is lighted in the most charming manner by a subdued but efficient light.

Military Medical Company Here

The 106th Company of the 102d Medical Regiment, whose headquarters are at Albany, stayed at the armory here Saturday night while on their way home from Camp Smith, Peekskill. The company, which arrived in Kingston about 7:30, left early Sunday for the Albany headquarters.

A number of trucks, motorcycles and a kitchen-on-wheels were parked in the rear of the armory while the soldiers slept in the big drill shed. They enjoyed a steak and potato supper shortly after their arrival, which Captains A. L. Olschansky and Louis DeRusso partook of and complimented the cooks for their skill. Both officers attributed the success of the two weeks spent at Camp Smith to the good cooks and Mess Sergeant Eugene Maxwell. Captain DeRusso was a classmate of Dr. Chester Van Gaasbeek of this city at medical school.

The present 102d Medical Regiment was originally known as the world is full curiosity.

Gun Club Opens Its Fall Shoots

The first of the fall shoots was held by the Ulster County Gun Club on their grounds Saturday and was largely attended by members. The perfect score and the goal to which all members have been looking since the organization of the club, was made by the vice president of the club, Robert Martin, who made a perfect score by breaking 25 targets out of 25. Mr. Martin was congratulated and cheered as the last shot broke the 25th bird. This is an honor of which Mr. Martin may well be proud. The nearest contestants were Messrs. Roswell Coles, Harold King, Ed Cunningham and Elliott Wright with 21, 20 and 19 respectively. A number of the other members followed with scores of 15 or slightly less.

The Gun Club was gratified to find the season starting off with so much enthusiasm, and wishes to encourage its members to come out and try their marksmanship.

Clambakes Largely Attended.

There was a large attendance on Sunday at each of the annual clambakes given by Kingston Lodge of Elks and the Loyal Order of Moose. The former was held at Walton Park, near Four Corners, on upper Lucas avenue, and the latter at Maple Hill Farm on the Rosendale road. There was full and plenty to eat from start to finish and between eating at the preliminary service of raw clams, sandwiches, etc., and after the clambakes there were sports along athletic lines.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy during the illness and death of our son, Raymond. MR. AND MRS. CHESTER DEYO.

"I'd promote Lane ... if it weren't for 'B. O.'"

LANE'S big chance—the job he had worked for and hoped to get—had gone to a subordinate. "It's no use," he complained to the boss's assistant. "You've got to have pull around here."

"You're wrong, Lane," was the reply. "I happen to know that you would have had that promotion if it weren't for 'B. O.'"

"B. O."—body odor! A harsh remark—but it proved a real kindness. Lane took the hint. Let him tell you how he overcame his body odor and later won his big promotion.

Body odor easily ended.

"I made my big mistake in thinking I was safe from body odor. I wasn't. We're perceiving all the time. But we get so used to the odor that we ourselves don't notice it. Odors do."

"Now I know that the best way to make sure we don't offend is to deodorize the pores with a purifying toilet soap like Lifebuoy. After a Lifebuoy bath I feel full of pep, refreshed. And no 'B. O.' now to interfere with my progress. Today I hold one of the best paid jobs in the office."

So good for complexion!

"And I've found Lifebuoy so thoroughly satisfying that it's now the only toilet soap I ever use. It gives such wonderful lather, is so cleansing and keeps the skin so nice and smooth."

"My whole family feels safer using Lifebuoy than germs of germs. We'll like its pleasant and clean scent that vanishes right after rinsing."

Try Lifebuoy a week and you, too, will see it for life. Get some today. LEVER BROS. CO., Cambridge, Mass.

7 Incorporations In Ulster County

Albany, Sept. 10.—With the future of the talking motion picture apparently assured, a dozen or more such companies incorporated in New York state during the past month, according to a detailed report showing the activities of the corporation bureau, just issued by Robert Moses, secretary of state. Television is also a traffic investment capital, although apparently, to a lesser degree, judging from the number of such companies that have been incorporated recently in this state, as compared to the talking motion picture. The incorporation of airways still continues from various parts of the state. During the last two months, no less than 22 real estate concerns incorporated in New York state, mainly in or around New York city, while the demands of Dame Fortune were responsible for about 17 garment making concerns receiving charters.

The first six months of this year have resulted in a total of 15,449 stock companies of all sorts and descriptions incorporating in this state, the largest number during any similar period in the state's history, and an increase of 92 companies over the same period last year. Receipts to the corporation bureau last month were approximately three-quarters of a million dollars and established a new month's record for the bureau. This is due, to a considerable extent, not only to the large number of companies that incorporated, but also to the fact that many of these were heavily capitalized, with several showing capitalization of a million dollars or more.

In Ulster county, seven companies incorporated during July and August, with capitalization aggregating $280,000.

Support Legion Good Will Plan

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Sept. 10 (AP).

A plan for the furtherance of international good will which originated in Saranac Lake Post, American Legion, has attracted considerable attention in Canada, Mexico, and the United States and now has the support of some of the highest Legion officials.

The plan called for the placing of large metal signs at all ports of entry into Canada and Mexico, bearing the American Legion emblem and advising all tourists about to enter a foreign country to place the flag of that country beside the Stars and Stripes on their machines. The plan is said to have met with the hearty approval of the Canadian Great War Veterans Association.

Commander David Rander of the local post has been advised by John J. Bennett, Jr., chairman of the Americans committee, department of New York, American Legion, that he has endorsed the plan and has asked the officials of the emblem division of the Legion to design a suitable sign and furnish estimates as to cost.

The plan had its birth in a recent episode which occurred in Montreal, when an irate resident of that city tore an American flag from an automobile and trampled upon it. The incident was discussed in the Canadian parliament and received the personal attention of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The Rochester Reformed Church will hold its 16th annual clambake on the church grounds Wednesday afternoon and evening. The bake will be served continuously from 3:30 to 9 p. m., standard time.

At a meeting of the town board on September 2, 1928, they appointed DeWitt Barley for assessor to fill out the unexpired term of Hiram Quick. The appointment will meet with approval of the voters as Mr. Barley has served before as assessor.

Denies Increase In Polio Cases

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Thirty-one cases of infantile paralysis in New York state exclusive of New York city were reported to the State Health Department during the week ended August 25. One child died from this disease.

The department denied, however, that infantile paralysis was on the increase in this state, declaring that the number of cases reported during the summer was less than for the corresponding period of last year, with the exception of New York city, where a moderate increase was noted.

Three persons died during the week from whooping cough, and three from typhoid fever. Cases of communicable diseases were reported as follows: Typhoid fever, 27; measles, 68; scarlet fever, 51; whooping cough, 204; diphtheria, 39.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

Balmoral, Scotland—Queen Mary is indulging in one of her favorite sports, fishing, while on holiday here this year, and she doesn't hesitate to bait her own hook, either. She uses worms. Friends found her baiting the King's hook.

Douglas, Belgium Congo—After thirty years' work by Mr. and Mrs. Ruskin, missionaries, the first dictionary of an African tongue has been published. The language is Lomongo, spoken by 300,000 negroes. The missionaries are now working on a Lomongo version of the Bible.

Algiers—Camel caravans crossing the Sahara soon will carry wireless stations with them. The first of these portable transmitting sets adapted for mounting on a camel's back is being used for training operators in preparation for the general equipment of all caravans.

Constantinople—This makes one wonder about how strict a dad Mussolini is. President Kemal has sent to the duke's two sons packages of his private brand of cigarettes. The boys were visiting here with Fascist Scouts. One is nine years old, the other eleven.

Newport, R. I.—There's considerable wonder as to who if anybody will buy Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's $5,000,000 marble house, which is now on the market. It has been idle in recent years because no billionaire would pay $20,000 rent for the summer season plus the enormous cost of upkeep.

New York—There are 14 votes for Smith in the family of the lady who sang the National anthem at the convention which nominated Hoover. Mrs. Ernestine Schumann-Heink is out for the governor. She and the rest were all Republicans she says, but they have changed.

Let Indians Believe

He Cast Out Witches

Early in 1880, Dr. Benjamin Deason, just graduated from the medical department of the University of Tennessee, went to southeastern Oklahoma and opened a practice among the Choctaw Indians. The Indians, however, would come to him only when their own witch doctors had failed to expel the witch that had caused, they believed, their ailments. Instead of attempting to dissuade them from their belief in witches, Doctor Deason resorted to suggestive therapeutics and told the sufferers that "witch killing" was his specialty. He would then give treatments that he assured them would drive out the witches—and seldom failed to effect the desired result. He followed this line of least resistance for many years, he says in the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, leaving the labors of enlightenment to those of the Choctaws who in the course of time began attending schools provided for them and who on returning home informed their fellow tribesmen that there really were no witches.

Part Heredity Plays in Mental Disorders

When there has been a considerable amount of mental disease in several generations of a family, the probability of the continuation in future generations of a mental disorder is fairly great. When, however, a few sporadic cases of mental disease occur in a family, there is little reason to be fearful of the results of the continuation of such a family strain. These are the conclusions reached in an article on causes of mental disease by Dr. H. C. Solomon in Hygeia Magazine.

Study of the ancestry of a group of patients with severe mental disease will show that some mental disorder or peculiarity appeared in about 60 or 70 per cent of the descendants and collaterals of the previous generation. This would seem to indicate a hereditary connection. However, if one searches the ancestry of a random group of ordinary mentally well persons one will find mental disorders in almost the same percentage, Doctor Solomon stated.

What Is Force of Habit?

The brain is like a dense forest, and our thoughts are backwoodsmen blazing a trail. When once a certain thought has passed through, it is easier for the same kind of thought to come again. That is habit. Fold a piece of paper, then spread it out. It is easier to fold it again in the same crease than in any other way. That is habit. So, to create a habit of cheerfulness, we must send cheerful thoughts along again and again until the trail in our minds is thoroughly blazed. Then it will be easy to be cheerful.—J. P. Anderson.

National Amateur
Golf Tourney

Newton, Mass., Sept. 10 (AP).—The 22nd National Amateur Golf Championship of the United States may develop into an endurance test before all the returns are in Saturday night. The start of the classic today holds indications that it might be a struggle of the fittest physically rather than a matter of unadorned golf.

Only the stoutest-hearted of the nation's best amateur golfers looked without trepidation on the hills of Brae Burn, a course that will absorb a lot of climbing.

The final practice period brought many players to the green with dragging feet, and a football player, accustomed to taking his recreation with no appeal for quarter, announced after a mere 15 holes that he was going to bed immediately to rest for the qualifying rounds today and tomorrow.

The climb at Brae Burn begins on the second hole and while even a golf course follows the law of gravity which decrees that all that goes up must come down, the respites here and there are paid for as the round drags on.

The sun-bronzed Bobby Jones, three times champion and medalist for two years in a row, seemed trained to the minute for the test that is to determine if he is to take his place alongside Jerry Travers, who for 15 years has been the only golfer to win the amateur four times. No matter what the course may do to the woods and irons of the pride of Atlanta, he apparently is equipped to finish under his own power.

One of the most severe altitude tests comes at the ninth hole where the second shot after a good drive must be made high in the air to an elevated green. The one hole offers a problem in the form of a brook 205 yards from the tee. Few of the contenders were confident that they packed a wallop good for a carry of this distance every time.

As the qualifying tests cast their terrifying shadow over the field, a former champion suggested that not more than 15 hours would be made on the 18th hole by the 144 ambitious starters in the first test of skill and nerve. "I would dislike very much to come up to this hole needing a four to qualify," he said.

The consensus was that Brae Burn would stand for no foolishness on the part of the players and predictions of high qualifying scores were frequent. Many experienced observers thought 160 for the 36 holes would win the right to remain in the match play competition, restricted to 32 players. These were to be determined by 18 holes at medal play today and another 18 tomorrow.

Armory Seating
Plan Changed

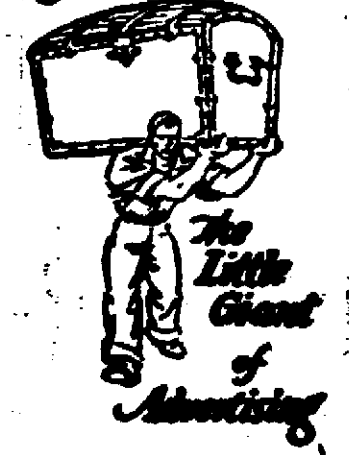

The attendance of boxing fans at the armory shows, which increases with the staging of each fight program, has registered the demand for a change in the seating arrangement. Captain E. C. Lawson of Battery B has drawn up a plan which will enlarge the seating capacity of the big drill shed and make it more comfortable for reserved seat patrons.

According to the plan of Captain Lawson, fans will not be required to stand in the rear of the armory as they now do, owing to a lack of seats. This will be remedied by making all the seats in the balcony, except the first two rows, general admission seats. Two rows of seats will be placed against the wall on the Hoffman street and the clear factory sides of the armory and two rows of chairs at each end of the big hall between the ringside seats and the general admission bleachers. These seats will be reserved. This arrangement will do away with people blocking passageways and standing in the rear of the ringside seats. A print of the new seating arrangement can be seen between the hours of 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. any day except Sunday at the armory.

The corps of ushers have improved in efficiency since the first card of fights and the way they handle the crowds will add much to the convenience of the new seating arrangement.

Reservations for seats may be made at the armory for the show to be put on there Friday night, September 21. It is the only place reservations may be made and according to the promoters of the fights the plan is working out much better than the former one of selling reserved seats in various parts of the city.

Spartans Beat
Woodstock Team

Dave Hawk's Radio Boys turned out the Woodstock baseball team, 5-2, when they met them at the athletic field Sunday afternoon. The Kingston nine asserted its superiority in the season and held the Woodstockers in submission to a final of the finest physically rather than a matter of unadorned golf.

Williams, are of the Spartans pitching staff, was in excellent form and allowed Woodstock but four hits. He without trepidation on the hills of Brae Burn, a course that will absorb a lot of climbing.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By Herbert W. Barker, Associated Press Sports Writer)

The New York Yankees have been sternly tested and certainly not found wanting.

With the biggest crowd in baseball history looked on, the world's champions, fighting desperately for every advantage, ripped two victories from Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, and bounced back into the American League lead.

Nearly 80,000 persons packed the Yankee Stadium. Most of them came to cheer their one-time favorites. They remained instead to go wild while the Yankees tore into their only pennant rivals and downed them by scores of 5 to 0 and 7 to 3.

It was a stunning reverse for the Athletics. They came to the Yankee fair expecting to confront the pale shadow of a once-mighty baseball club. They grappled, instead, with a giant, rejoicing in his strength.

For the day at least, the Athletics were overmatched. Against the heads-up baseball champions played the A's could make no progress. The double defeat sent the Yankees back into the lead with a game and a half to spare and a record of 15 victories over the Athletics in the twenty games the two teams have played thus far.

To New York fandom, the double bill was as good as a world's series. Two hundred thousand sought to get into the stadium, and 85,265 succeeded. Of these, 31,622 were paid admissions. The former record total attendance at a baseball game was set at the Yankee Stadium July 4, 1927, when 72,824 saw the Ruppert riles meet Washington in a double-header.

George Pipgras, young right-hander who seems to rise to the heights in a crisis, and Bob Meusel, the somewhat nonchalant left fielder, were the Yankee heroes of the day.

Pipgras gave the A's no chance in the opener, scattering nine hits in such a manner that the A's could not fashion a single run out of their collection.

Meusel won the second game when he flouted a home run into the left field seats with the bases filled in the eighth.

Old Jack Quinn pitched along on even terms with Pipgras until the sixth inning of the first game when the Yankees fell on him for three runs. Rommel stopped the carnage but yielded to a pinch hitter, allowing Ossie Orvell to step into the box in time to be greeted by a two-run Yankee flurry in the eighth.

The A's had only one real chance, but Jimmy Foss failed in the pinch. In that frame, Max Bishop's single and two walks filled the bases with two out, but Pipgras, calm as ever, got Foss on strikes.

The real drama of the day came in the second game. After the Yankees had scored one in the first inning, Al Simmons put the A's into the lead with a home run with Cochran on base in the sixth. Another flittered across in the seventh, giving the Mackmen a two-run margin that looked good since Rube Walberg was turning back the champions with ease. But the last of the month saw the Yankees tie the score and Walberg give way to Eddie Rommel after he had forced the tying run in with a walk. Rommel stopped the rally but it broke out again in the eighth with disastrous results. In this frame, a single by Koenig, Gehrig's double and an intentional pass to Ruth, filled the bases. Rommel worked the count to 3 and 2 on Meusel before lanky Bob parked the ball in the stands. The rest was anti-climatic. Waite Hoyt, third Yankee pitcher, stopped the A's dead in the ninth and the game was over.

Meanwhile the National League race was tightening up. The Cardinals bowing to Pittsburgh again, 8 to 7, saw the Chicago Cubs, who beat Cincinnati, 2 to 0, draw to within two and a half games of them and that's not far enough away to please Bill McKechnie.

The Pirates sank the league leaders by scoring five runs in the eighth inning. Guy Bush allowed the Reds only two hits in the Cubs' triumph before 42,000 persons.

The New York Giants suffered another rude shock to their pennant ambitions when Dazzy Vance and the Brooklyn Dodgers beat them, 3 to 2, Vance, allowing seven hits and striking out ten men, outpitched Larry Benton by a slight margin.

Blue Sox Trounce
Clermont Team

Nick Huber, who has bled a number of wins for the Blue Sox this year, added another to his credit when the Sox took the Clermonts into camp Sunday at Harborsburg Park, 12-5. The victory over the Clermonts was the third for the Sox this season.

Huber was more liberal with his passes in Sunday's game than in any other contest this year. He allowed seven, but kept the hits to a low well scattered. The Houghtaling brothers, well known on local diamonds, were the only Clermont players able to touch Nick for more than one hit. They collected two each.

Stelz, the centerfielder of the Blue Sox, put a damper on what looked as though it might have meant a homer for Hoffman, had the agile fielder not grabbed the ball in a sensational manner. The feature catch of the game was made in the fifth inning with two outs and the sacks loaded. Stelz hit a double that figured in the run collecting of the Blue Sox and scored three times.

The Blue Sox will meet the Pan-Am's next Sunday at the Fair Grounds to decide supremacy. They are now tied after playing two games. It is said Chief Mueller of Houghtaling will call them at the plate, while Harry Desmond of Saugerties, former Colonial umpire, will take care of the bases.

Harrisburg Again
Captures Pennant

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—Nosing out Mike McNally's Triplets by 5 to 4, at Harborsburg, yesterday, the Harrisburg Senators marched through at the eleventh hour to their second consecutive New York-Pennsylvania League pennant under the leadership of W. Glenn Hillinger, former Penn State football star and one-time Yankee. It required the last battle to decide the race which Harrisburg won by one game.

Harrisburg won its season's series against every club except its arch-rival, York. The White Roses themselves were in a rut, but had enough life to win 11 out of 21 from the champions.

Each club in John Farrell's busload of little circuit was scheduled to play 149 games, but the chart was unbalanced to permit the extension of the York-Harrisburg and the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre series to 22 games each instead of the customary 20.

These leagues were taken care of in the York-Wilkes-Barre and the Scranton-Harrisburg duels, reduced to 18 engagements each.

Nine games were washed permanently by rain on the final trip, and another was removed by the Syracuse-Elmira tie, which could not be played off. This was the only tie of the New York-Pennsylvania campaign.

The final official club-against-club standing follows:

	Harrisburg	York	Scranton	Wilkes-Barre	Scranton	York	Elmira	Syracuse	Albany	Watkins	Utica	Glens Falls	Adirondack	Albany	Watkins	Utica	Glens Falls	Adirondack

WETMORE'S AGGREGATION

The Pan-Am's nosed out the Wetmore aggregation, 9-8, at Poughkeepsie Sunday afternoon. Celnick and Black did the hurrying for the oilmen, while Kellett did the full nine innings for the Wetmores. Freddie Dahm, Maury McDermott, Jack Robins and Jimmy Volker played with the Poughkeepsie team. A triple in the seventh by Rider of the Pan-Am's, that scored two men, put the Kingston team on even terms with the Wetmore aggregation. Rider scored the winning run on Tierney's blow.

FLANNERY TUGBOAT
SAVED BY BEACHING

A fire aboard the tugboat Flannery Boy late Friday night necessitated the beaching of the boat, badly damaged, at Edgewater, N. J. The tugboat, owned by the Flannery Brothers Towing Company, 11 Moore street, Manhattan, was going south in the Hudson river off 15th street when the fire was discovered. Captain Thomas M. Farrell ordered a distress signal blown, to which a police launch responded. With the police boat leading the way, the tug headed for the New Jersey shore at all possible speed. The fire had gained much headway by the time the fireboat John Purroy Mitchell arrived, but the blaze was soon extinguished. No one was injured. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Entertain Vets at Fireman's Home

The annual outing of the Columbia County Volunteer Firemen's Association was held at Fireman's Home, Hudson, Sunday afternoon.
This affair which is held mainly to entertain the veterans of the Home and bring together the volunteers of Columbia county, was a great success.
There was a program of vaudeville entertainment and concerts by the City Concert Band. In addition to the entertainment program in charge of Mark Rosenthal of Hudson, vice-president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, badges of testimonial for the service rendered and the esteem in which they were held by members of the association were presented to William H.
Frank, chairman of the board of directors, Chris W. Noll, secretary, both of Poughkeepsie and Andrew J.
Murphy, treasurer of this city.

A surprise of the afternoon was the arrival on the scene of Excelsior Hose Company Band. It has been kept a secret by those in charge of the affair and the local musicians made a very favorable impression during the affair. Their concert from 3:30 until 6:30 brought forth continuous applause not only from the "old Vets" but from the large assemblage present.

All of the officers of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association were present at the affair. Those present from Kingston were Deputy Chief Fred Leverich, Director William H. Koltz, Treasurer A. J. Murphy and William B. Martin, president of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Big Drop in Cotton Prices

New Orleans, La., Sept. 10 (AP).— Cotton prices dropped nearly $5 a bale today on execution of selling orders accumulated over the week end. They were induced apparently by Saturday's bearish government crop figures.

Offerings were thrown on the market in large volume almost from the opening, and although there was a rally of 3 to 11 points after the start, October contracts eventually sold off to 17.52 cents a pound. December to 17.61 and January to 17.64 or 92 to 96 points below the previous close. At the end of the first half hour of trading the market still was weak and at the lowest.

The Ultimate Straw

"Hear about poor old Slyce? Why did he do it? He'd stood up under all sorts of hard luck."
"I know it. Fire, shipwreck, panics, divorces—we figured he was cassared, and now he's gone."
"Jumped off that cliff by the third tee, didn't he?"
"Yes—Just scrambled a note and left it with his clubs."
"What'd it say?"
"It said, 'This is too much. Have just made a hole in one, without a single witness. Good-by.'"

A Black Carnation

The newest thing in flowers is a carnation which, in full bloom, is almost black, says the Farm Journal.
In a report of the recent International Flower show held in Ghent, Belgium.
Ghent, incidentally, is probably the most colorful city in the world in flower season, with 700 flower nurseries, hundreds of flower markets and many huge conservatories, the latter large enough to provide for the growth of full-sized palm trees.

Ulster County's
Grape Harvest

According to the Marlborough Record the grape harvest in southern Ulster has begun with a favorable outlook for crop. The first shipment of grapes from Marlborough was made by J. A. DuBois on August 29, and on April 30, Matthew McCourt shipped his first Champions of the season which sold for 80 cents a basket. Mr. DuBois's shipment consisted of Moore's Early grapes.
Frank Morrow was perhaps the first grower at Marlborough to pick grapes and he sold several baskets of Champions from his roadside stand. Shipments are now being made and fairly heavy shipments went out by boat and truck last week. The grapes are of as good quality as could be expected from the early varieties. Will Wardell was the first man to start gathering Delawares and he shipped his first consignment to Boston by express last Tuesday. Concord grapes promise a good yield this season.

Little Change Noted
in Making of Bricks

Making brick was prehistoric history when Egypt was young.
Plutarch tells the history of the phrase, "he's a brick," by relating the anecdote of a Spartan king who argued against building a wall around the capital city by pointing to his army and saying, "There is my wall, and every man a brick."
Basically, the manufacture of brick has not changed since those early days. If we except the vitrification the process has simply been refined and modernized.
Herodotus writes of an inscription on a brick tomb built 16 centuries B.
C. which reads:
"Disparage me not by comparing me with pyramids built of stone. I am as much superior to them as Ammon is to common deities. I am constructed of brick made from mud which adhered to the end of poles and was drawn up from the bottom of the lake."

Ten Men Killed,
5 Seriously Hurt
In Plane Crashes

(By The Associated Press)

Ten men were killed and five others seriously injured in aviation accidents in widely scattered sections of the United States Sunday.

None of the accidents was in connection with the cross country air races now in progress, but a navy flier was seriously injured when his plane crashed during a race at Las Angeles.

Two students at Otterbein, Ind., High School were killed when the plane crashed attempting to make a landing at the air field there. The two boys, Dorwin Leighty, 18, and Robert Burns, 15, died of fractured skulls shortly after the crash. Donald Burgett, of Chalmers, Ind., the pilot, was seriously injured.

Harold Tennant of Sioux Falls,
S. D., and Frank Kuehn of Garretson, were killed when the wings of their plane, described as the first built in Iowa, buckled as they were completing a test flight at Sioux Falls. They were en route from Sioux City, Iowa, to the state fair at Hurdon, S. D.

Plane Plunged in Lake Erie.
Lieutenant Joseph C. Soper, 25, of Selfridge Field, Mich., was killed when his plane failed to come out of a dive and plunged into Lake Erie during an aerial exhibition held in connection with the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Charles Gilhausen, 35, formerly of Des Moines, Iowa, was killed at Des Moines when a Bolte plane which he was testing crashed to the ground.

Jack McGivern, 23, of Atlanta,
Ga., fell to his death at Florence, S.
C., when a strap on his parachute broke as he dived from a plane 2,000 feet in the air.

Lieutenant G. H. Hasselman, attached to the airplane carrier, U. S.
S. Langley, was seriously injured at Los Angeles when his plane crashed as he was rounding a pylon during the national air meet races.

Crashed from 2,000 Feet Altitude.
Akden Baker, pilot, and Henry Krause, mechanic, were killed and Riley Sheldon, a passenger, was injured when their plane crashed from 2,000 feet at Los Angeles.

L. W. Druggier, pilot, died of burns and injuries received when the plane built and owned by Carl W. Bates crashed and burst into flames at Kansas City air field. Bates and R.
B. Suor, a passenger, were both critically injured. The men were pulled from the blazing plane by two students, working with the aid of a bystander, who played a stream from a fire extinguisher on them.

Market for Fruits
And Vegetables

New York, Sept. 10 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Up-state New York celery was in more liberal receipt today. The market was about steady on fine quality, well-balanced stock, but dull on unattractive and green. Jobbing sales on stock in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates, ranged from $1.25-$3.00, mainly $2.00-$2.50.

State pears were more plentiful.
Closing values of the preceding week were barely sustained. The demand was slow. Wholesale transactions on Bartlett pears were reported chiefly at $2-$2.25 per bushel basket. Clapps
Favorite, at $2-$2.37 1/2 and Seckels
$2.00-$2.00.

Receipts of lettuce from up-state were moderate. Much of it was leafy and otherwise ordinary. Crates of 24 heads of Big Boston peddled out as high as $1.75 for the very best, and as low as 50 cents. Western icebergs sold at $3.00-$3.50 per crate.

Increased offerings of Western New York carrots resulted in a slightly weaker market. Washed stock brought $1.75-$2.00 per bushel basket. Unwashed carrots sold at $1.50-$1.65. California bunches carrots wholesaled at $5.00-$5.50.

Arrivals of state cucumbers were moderate. Trading was a trifle improved and values, especially on fine quality, tended upward. Business on the fancy pack was at $1.00-$1.50 per bushel basket. Dills realized $1.75-$2.25 and pickles $2.00-$4.00, depending upon size.

State apples are gradually increasing in volume and improving in quality. Demand was fairly good, particularly on well-colored table varieties and large green fruit. Sales on Alexander were made at $1.00-$1.75 per

INCREASE IN UNFILLED
ORDERS OF U. S. STEEL

New York, Sept. 19 (AP).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on August 31 amounted to 3,624,043 tons, an increase of 53,116 tons compared with the preceding month. A decrease of 66,882 tons was reported for July.

That Boston Tea Party

When Boston citizens dumped the king's tea overboard in pre-revolutionary days, they simply destroyed an important product, asserts the Tea club of the United States. Tea of Colonial days would not pass pure food inspection today.
